

The Compass Game Questions

Read each statement and consider all the possibilities for completing it. Then decide which one fits you best. Even if more than one applies to you, pick only one. Even if none particularly appeals to you, still pick the best if you had to choose from this list. Circle the corresponding letter. When you have completed all the statements, count the number of each choice (N, E, S, W). Write your totals below in the spaces provided.

My favorite subjects are: N. social studies or history E. math or science S. English or other language W. art or physical education	I'd rather do report by: N. interviewing people and writing E. doing an experiment S. reading a book and telling about it W. drawing a picture or acting it out
I'd rather hold the class office or position of: N. President E. Treasurer S. Secretary W. Activity Director	For a pet I'd rather have: N. a dog E. spiders S. a kitten or bunny W. a snake
I'd rather work on a class project: N. in a group where I am in charge E. alone S. with a partner W. in a group where no one is in charge	My desk, locker, and drawers are usually: N. very neat and well organized E. stuffed, but I know where things are S. full of notes to and from friends W. pretty messy, and who cares
I'd rather read a biography about: N. a U.S. President E. a computer whiz or scientist S. a writer W. a sports hero	When being creative, I'd rather: N. write a biography E. do an experiment S. perform of act with a group W. use tools or equipment
In my bedroom, I'd like to have: N. everything put away where it belongs E. a computer and a microscope S. pictures of my friends and movie stars W. sports equipment or art supplies	When I have an assignment, I like to: N. plan and organize it so it's on time E. research it S. call a friend to work on it together W. do it last minute
A game I'd rather play is: N. Monopoly E. Chess S. Charades W. Dungeons and Dragons	I'd usually rather: N. follow the rules (so should others) E. question the rules S. help figure out the rules W. break the rules
I usually learn something best by: N. reading about it E. thinking about it S. talking about it W. doing it	I'd rather be: N. right E. smart S. friendly W. free

Total: N: _____ E: _____ S: _____ W: _____

The Compass Game

Group discussion questions:

1. A very big important test is coming up. Your family was upset about your scores on the last one and had told you that you need to do well on this test or you'll be grounded for at least a month. You buckled down and studied for many hours, and you feel you're as well prepared as you're going to be. On the day of the test, you're working as hard as you can when you happen to notice that another student is copying answers from a piece of paper hidden on his lap. You know that this teacher rades on a curve, which means that the highest score in the class will get an A, and no matter how close the scored may be, the lowest will get an F, and the others will be somewhere in between.

How do you feel about the cheater? What do you do, if anything?

2. Your mom is really sick and you're getting worried about her. She doesn't seem to want to get up, and she says her head is killing her. You've tried to help out by making dinner and doing the dishes, but after a whole day she still feels awful. Then the neighbors start playing some heavy metal music with a loud, pounding beat that shakes the dishes in your kitchen. Your mother starts to moan because her head hurts even worse now.

What do you do?